Washington, May 29.—Declaring a cash soldier bonus would put the dollar mark on patriotism, Senator Myers, democrat, of Montana, told the Senate today that in his opinion the agitation for such a bonus was "a scheme by both political parties to buy the soldier vote. Big Demonstration Planned In Atlanta, Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., May 29.—In addition to formally notifying Eugene V. Debs at the Atlanta federal penitentiary today that he had been nominated by the Socialist party for president of the United States, leaders of the party planned to hold a Debs rally here Sunday afternoon.

The warden of the penitentiary said the notification committee from New York would be allowed to communicate with Debs. He indicated the usual 30 minute period allowed for a prisoner to receive visitors would be extended in his case.

Debs, who is serving a ten year sentence on conviction for violation of the espionage act, has been assigned to comparatively light work in the prison hospital and was expected to appear before his visitors in the usual prison garb of blue denim.

An average speed of 80 miles an hour for four laps around a two and one-half mile brick track is required of each entrant.

Ralph de Palma, who averaged a shade under 100 miles an hour for the four laps in his trial Wednesday, has made the best time in the preliminaries. He will get the pole when the race starts.

He declared that the middleman exacted 20 per cent on his investment, "their wartime practice being actually criminal." Millers of flour, he contended, received profits 375 per cent greater in 1917 than in 1913.

GOMPERS AND ALLEN DEBATE ON NEW COURT

Carnegie Hall Thronged to Capacity to Hear Orators Discuss Merits of New Kansas Labor Law.

(By Associated Press)

New York, May 28.—Carnegie Hall was packed to the doors tonight when Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Governor Henry J. Allen, of Kansas, met to debate the merits of the recently enacted Kansas industrial court law and kindred subjects.

"We are at the parting of the ways in the great controversies occupying the minds of our people," declared Mr. Gompers, beginning his direct argument of the debate.

"On the one hand, we have the great constructive movement for progress, for civilization, and the tasks these impose, and on the other hand we have those who are leading the course of reaction, of injustice, of tyranny."

"There is a common error in the mind of a large number of our people," Mr. Gompers continued, "and peoples of the whole world who confuse the term 'labor' and 'capital' as being in exactly equal positions toward each other."

"The fact of the matter is that capital is the product of labor. There is one thing about the labor question which is axiomatic. That is: If you attempt to outlaw strikes by legislation, depend upon it your law will be futile and you will simply make criminals and lawbreakers of work men who are honest, patriotic citizens."

Governor Allen lost no time in coming to the defense of the Kansas industrial court. He declared that this was the fundamental action upon which he and his supporters were working and which governed his attitude towards capital, labor and the disputes which arise between them.

"We have not forbidden to any man the right to quit work," he asserted. "We merely have taken away from Mr. Gompers his divine right to order a man to quit work."

Governor Allen then referred to statements alleged to have been made by union leaders in the past, including Mr. Gompers' that "if you take away the right to strike, we will find some other way." Governor Allen denied that the Kansas law denied the workman the privilege of collective bargaining.

He said it gave the miners that right, whether they were members of unions or not, and protected the sanctity of their contracts.

Budapest, May 29.—Startling prophecies relating to world peace, political changes in Europe and fate of prominent figures in the great war were made by Made M. Dellangh, Hungary's noted soothsayer.

"Thrones will be re-established all over Europe including France, Germany, Austria, Poland and Hungary within a year," she says.

"The Hohenzollerns will return to Germany, but the former Emperor will go insane and the Crown Prince will be murdered. There will be sanguinary upheavals in France preliminary to constitution of a kingdom. Bolshevism will end in Russia in 1921. Mexico will be the starting point of the next war. High prices will prevail and European exchange will be at par in two years. There will be the greatest exodus of Jews from Russia, but they will not go to Palestine. PROPOSED NEW WATER RATES ARE DISCUSSED

Committee Asks That Rates Be Reduced To Twenty-five Percent Increase.

No Agreement Reached And Proposal Will be Taken Up At Next Meeting.

At a special session of the city council, Friday night the question of increased water rates was taken up and discussed at some length, with final decision postponed until a later meeting.

The 40.93 percent increase in rates asked by the water company was deemed too great by the committee to whom the proposal had been referred, and the suggestion made that a 25 percent increase in rates would not be opposed.

Harvey Myers, Vice President of The Washington Water Co., from Covington, Kentucky, presented the company's side of the application for increased rates.

Mr. Myers said that no long time contract was desired, and that the books of the company were open to inspection. He then proceeded to give figures which he said were compiled from the books for the past year, and added estimates for the coming year as follows:

Salary pay roll $8160. General repairs $2500. Taxes $2500. Garage and Chlorine gas equipment over $500. Office supplies and expenses $500. Supplies, etc. $350. Miscellaneous $250. Fuel (estimated) $8500. Interest on bonds at four percent $7,020, a total of $32,080. Mr. Myers estimated the cost would cost $8 per ton. He declared that the increased cost of operation during the past few years had been 76 percent, and that the company last year had a deficit of $9,309.

He further stated that it was not the purpose of the company to make any money off of the city.

"It would be impossible to operate at 25 percent increase and break even," he told council when asked to figure the increase at 25 percent instead of above 40.

The committee called attention to the "reasonably abundant" water supply and Mr. Myers said that the word "reasonably" could be eliminated and leave in reading "abundant water supply."

Coffman, speaking for the committee, declared it was believed that the hydrant and residence rates were too high, and pointed to the large number of users of water who did not have "seven rooms" the minimum charged for at $7 per year instead of $4.20 as here tofore. This was reduced to $6 per year. Reduction of hydrant rates was impossible, Mr. Myers said.

It was suggested by the committee that the free water clause for city buildings, schools, and fountains be eliminated and charge made at the lowest minimum rate for this. This was agreed to, and reduction in residence rates made as above mentioned.

It was then stated by Coffman that the minimum meter rates were deemed excessive, the lowest minimum meter charge being $1 per month. He suggested that a yearly minimum be fixed, but instead of this a minimum rate of $3 per quarter, or no reduction whatever, was tentatively agreed upon. The committee, however, urged that the old minimum meter rates be fixed.

The meter rate for users of 30,000 gallon per month, or over, was lowered from 25 cents per thousand to 20 cents, and the city is to pay this amount for water formerly furnished free of charge.

Reichert then announced that it was the desire of the committee inasmuch as all of the committee was not present, to have the proposal left open until the next meeting, and this was agreed to.

After a short discussion on Dayton avenue the meeting was adjourned.

MAY USE INSECTS TO WAGE NEXT WAR SAYS PROFESSOR

(By Associated Press)

London — (By Mail)—Mobilization of the mosquito, the house-fly, the louse and various other disease-carrying pests for the dissemination of deadly germs in enemy territory is a possibility of "the next war" pictured by Professor Maxwell Lefroy, a scientist.

"I foresee the mosquito from Brazil starting yellow fever in new lands, the house-fly, duly infested with cholera, dysentery or enteric and the typhus-laden louse doing their deadly work much more effectively than spies poisoning wells," said Professor Lefroy in a recent address.

This would be part of the work of a War Office of entomologists—the working out of strategic plans for the plane. It seems that the world is intent upon furnishing a service for these pests, many of which are now held somewhat in check by enemies in their native climes. This will give them just the means of transit they have required. It will be a peace-time danger as well as one that could be used very offensively in war. The danger from these

"winged battalions of death" is more serious than one dare estimate."

ANNUAL CLASS EXERCISES DRAW LARGE AUDIENCE

Class Night Proves An Unusually Happy and Entertaining Event.

Originality and Careful Training Combine To Make Program Memorable One.

Washington high school auditorium was filled Friday evening for the annual Class Night exercises, which always one of the most pleasing events of the Senior's last days, proved even more so when its features were given full play by the talent of the Class of '29.

An evenly balanced class because of the nature of enrollment, there being almost the same number of boys and girls, the stage was bountiful with youth, and the bright garb of the sweet girl graduates, who invariably wore corsage bouquets of striking beauty and lavishness added a touch of color and tint to the scene. Under the direction of Miss Louise Habegger, who is just completing a most successful year as instructor of music in the public schools, the Glee Clubs had been trained especially for the occasion and their happily interspersed parts in the well rendered program was by no means a side issue of the affair. Miss Marion Whelpley was a perfect accompanist.

Following the "Boat Song" by the girls' glee club the Class President, Byron Stewart, across to the occasion and in a straight forward manner delivered a most pleasing and timely introductory address that was followed by the applause of his audience. The thoughts expressed by the class president were especially timely at this period of school affairs. The boys' glee club sang "Song of the Armorer"

In a smooth and confident manner, as chronicler of high school days past, Robert Cockerill recounted the achievements and bright spots of the class in the Class History. Characterized after a style following the Constitution of the United States and with not an item of class records unobserved, the history of the 1929 graduates was full and complete, even to the number who had embarked on the sea of matrimony since entry into high school. The boys who answered the call to service during the World War were not forgotten and their records added lustre to the class history.

Distinctly original and with a true ring of real talent in its composition the Class Poem was given by Miss Marcella Griffith, Class Poet, by reason of virtue as a compiler of rhythmic lines. The boys' glee club sang "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot."

During the past seasons there have been many and various ways of presenting the Class Prophecy, but the manner in which Miss Pauline Taylor performed this difficult task, as Class Prophet, was decidedly out of the ordinary, witty and most entertaining. Letters written to the Prophet by friends all over the world were read to the audience with graceful composure, while the subject of the epistle was forced to stand by and receive the message. It sometimes happened that more than one person at a time was called to the front.

"The Spring Chorus" was splendidly rendered by the girls' glee club.

Lawyers, with years of experience at the bar, could not have executed in a more finished manner the Class Will as given by Joseph Wilson. Lower classmen came in for more than their usual share of heirlooms and the pointed humor of the legacies brought out some startling inside information for the benefit of those not so intimately acquainted with the class intricacies as the Class Lawyer.

It was fitting that the Class Song, another clever composition by Miss Griffith, Class Poet, should be sung by the seniors. The words of the song were well arranged to popular music.

The program was closed with "The Senenade" by the boys' glee club.

The class roll on the program was as follows:

Virginia Ruth Armatrout, Frank Melvin Brown, Mary H. Brownell, Margaret Christopher, Robert Cockerill, Earnest Conner, Helen Marie Evans, Charles Fabb, Raymond Geiger, Marcella E. Griffith, B. Wendel Hays, Elizabeth Horney, Florence Elma Jacobs, Hazel H. Jacobs, Eleanor M. Jones, Richard N. Larimer, Lawrence W. D. Laughlin, Norman McLean, Ralph Marchant, Thelma J. Police over this part of Ohio are searching for a man giving the name of "J. M. Jones," said to be one of the smoothest bad check workers ever operating in this city.

A. Specht, Sec'y." and drawn on The Washington Bank and Savings Company, of Cincinnati.

The check was accepted, the hotel charge deducted and remainder in change paid to the man, who then took his departure. Since that time the check has come back marked "no funds" and the police are looking for "Jones."

The Frank L. Stutson CompanyNEW YORK FARMS WILL PRODUCE NORMAL YIELDS
(By Associated Press)

Albany, N. Y., May 29.—Farms of New York state will produce their normal contribution to the nation's food supply this season if the farmers are willing to pay the high wages demanded by farm labor, say officials of the State Department of Farms and Markets. These officials express the belief that the farmers are beginning to realize that their products will command high prices next fall and that this will induce them to pay high wages to laborers and to plant at least as many acres as in former years.

The farm workers will be found, say department officials, when the farmer is willing to pay them the wages they want. The problem of the farm is the cost of labor rather than shortage, they declare. Woodsmen who have been working in the logging camps during the winter are expected to go on the farms in the summer. Besides, say state officials, the annual "back to the land" migration from the cities should help to relieve the labor situation. Men who have been lured from the rural communities and towns by the higher wages offered in shop and factory begin to long for outdoor life when the warm days come, they say, and little coaxing is needed to make them exchange their work on their bench or machine for open spaces of field and meadow.

Planting has been delayed but this is attributed mostly to unfavorable weather conditions. There was difficulty early in the spring in obtaining seed, fertilizer, farm implements and machinery but the state officials say these commodities have been supplied as a result of efforts of the Department of Farms and Markets in co-operation with railroad officials.

Woolen Companies Indicted

The federal grand jury sitting at New York City has returned an indictment charging the American Woolen Company of New York, the American Woolen Company of Massachusetts and William Wood, president of both companies, with profiteering.

The indictment contains fourteen counts charging fourteen individual violations of the Lever act in the sale of cloth at unjust and unreasonable profits.

The principles of common justice between men, the principles of humanity, demand the punishment of the companies and of their president if, on trial, the facts charged in the indictment are proven true. There is no doubt about that. The punishment inflicted, in such event should carry a good stiff prison sentence for Wood. It should deprive him of his liberty which he has misused against his fellowmen who have created and preserved his opportunity for him and place the felon's brand upon him.

The companies, if found guilty, should be, if not deprived of legal existence, placed under changed ownership or guardianship which will prevent the commission of further crime.

The government has been too lenient in its punishment of guilty profiteers. The imposition of a fine of a few paltry thousand dollars is nothing to the men and the companies who have made millions. Really such punishment places the government in the disgraceful attitude of accepting a cheap bribe.

Whether the Lever act will stand the test, in these times of peace, when the attempt is made to reach out and punish profiteers is questionable. It is doubtful if, under our constitutional guarantees of freedom the remedy against profiteers is not with the people themselves in directing their trade. If we can have and are have government protection against trade robbers the ideal case is presented in the woolen mills indictments.

A Suggested Reform

Some forward-looking individual, whose identity has escaped us for the time, and it is unimportant any way, whether it was a senator or one of the numerous witnesses called before the committee to investigate campaign expenditures, suggested that it would be a good plan to limit campaign expenditures to a reasonable sum.

The suggestion raised a storm of protest and argument. That was to be expected, of course.

The astonishing features in the discussions which the suggestion called forth was the practical unanimity among the senators in the assertion that it would be impractical to limit expenditures; that the primary laws in various states made it necessary for candidates to make large expenditures in organizing and promoting their candidacy.

It never seems to occur to the office-holders and politicians that the people can do their own nominating and electing of public servants. It is not proper anyway for men to go out and "get" public office. It is for the people to act and for the individual to serve when called upon.

A Price On Villa

The new regime in Mexico—at present only a de facto government—has, it seems, launched an honest-to-goodness attempt to end the activities of the bandit Villa. Already three different expeditions have been sent into the mountains of the Parral district to surround and capture Villa and his band of outlaws.

Americans haven't a great deal of confidence that success will come of military campaigns against Villa. His is not a n organized army, operating as such, save only at times when it suits the purpose of the bandits.

The whole bandit band disintegrates, and mingles with the populace when pursuers come close, and Villa becomes a poor peon who is hid away in hovels. The organized pursuers soon find that there is nothing to pursue, that the opposing force has disappeared.

One plan, however, announced by the new government promises results. A price has been put upon Villa—dead or alive.

That is the only way to get Villa—pay for his capture or for proof of his death. Proceed against him as an outlaw, not as a military commander.

POETRY FOR TODAY

STONE WALLS

Along the country roadside, stone on stone,
Past waving grain-fields, and near broken stile.
The walls stretch onward, an uneven pile,
With ranking vines and lichen overgrown;
So stand they, sentinel. Unchanged alone,
They're left to watch the seasons passing slow;
The summer's sunlight or the winter's snow.
The spring-time's birdling, or the autumn's moan.
Who placed the stones now gray with many years?
And did the rough hand tire, the sore hearts ache,
The eyes grow dim with all their weight of tears?
Or did the work seem light for some dear sake?
Those lives are over. All their hopes and fears
Are lost like shadows in the morning-break.

PEACE LEAGUE THE BIG ISSUE WITH DEMOCRATS

Convention is Likely To Stand For Reservations

Rebuke of Wilson by The Convention Indicated.

Widespread Resentment Among Leaders at President's Oregon Telegram.

By Mark Sullivan

(Copyright 1920)

Washington, May 29.—The great question of policy which is just now to the front with the Democratic leaders is what to do about the League of Nations. They have, of course, two choices: they can do as President Wilson demands—stand for the League and against reservations; or, on the other hand, they can stand for the League with reservations.

The judgment of your correspondent is that they will do the latter, although saying this involves predicting that the convention of a party is going to ignore and, by implication, rebuke the head of that party. But there can be no doubt whatever that the majority of the Democratic leaders feel this way. The issue was last brought to the front by the President's telegram to an Oregon County chairman asking for the election of delegates to the convention who would stand by Wilson's position on the League. The after-effects of that telegram clearly indicate that Democratic leaders deplored it and resented it. One of the first results of the telegram was something approaching explosion among the Democrats in the Senate. Of the forty-seven Democrats in the Senate three have always opposed the League entirely, twenty more voted in favor of the Lodge reservations and two more were paired against the Lodge reservations.

To this clear majority of the Democratic party in the Senate Mr. Wilson's message brought explosive resentment. They interpreted the somewhat exalted words of Mr. Wilson's telegram and specifically his allusions to "honor" as an attack not merely upon party regularly but also upon their honor.

Thomas' Truculent Comment
as Senator Thomas of Colorado put it: This telegram appearing like a bolt from the blue, virtually imputes dishonor to every Senator voting against the treaty or for the treaty with reservations. I resent the imputation and I decline to accept it in obedience to any command which is not in harmony with my own conscience and my own convictions of public duty. I am prepared to take every consequence which the power of the Executive or the people may see fit to visit upon my devoted head.

The distinctly truculent, although cryptic, spirit of Senator Thomas' last sentence referred to an aspect of the president's action not visible on the surface, but full of what appeared to the Senators to be a most unfriendly and sinister meaning.

One of the Democratic Senators who voted for the League reservations is Senator Chamberlain of Oregon. Also, in another matter, two years ago, Senator Chamberlain, by criticizing the Administration's conduct of the war had come into open collision with President Wilson and had been publicly denounced by him. Senator Chamberlain is now seeking a new term in the Senate. The day the President sent his telegram was within two weeks of the date of the Oregon primaries which would determine whether Senator Chamberlain should get a renomination. Under the circumstances, the suspicion which Senator Thomas uttered publicly, which Senator Chamberlain himself felt in the strongest way, and which many of the other Senators shared, was not without justification.

In the uproar that arose in the Senate, Secretary Taft, while he did not deny in so many words that the motives for the President's action had included a wish to do specific harm to Senator Chamberlain, gave out a public statement that the President had merely meant to answer a question. Your correspondent gives complete credit for good faith to this answer. But the fact remains that if it was merely the President's wish to take an advantage of an opportunity to state his position, then the one county chairman to whom he had chosen to address this message was of all the hundreds of county chairmen in the country the least fortunate to be selected as the recipient of this message at this time.

Chamberlain Won Renomination
Senator Chamberlain has since overcome whatever harm the President's telegram did to him. He won his renomination in the Oregon primaries. But the other senators concerned are not yet satisfied to let the matter drop. They are still seeking evidence on various aspects of this incident, and it may figure further in the campaign.

Aside from Senator Chamberlain's case there still remains ten Democratic Senators who are in the same situation. They are coming to the end of their terms this year, and if they want re-election, they cannot afford to remain under the odium of Presidential disapproval. They have a vital interest in getting the San Francisco Convention not to stand by the President's position, but to endorse theirs. The aggregate power in the convention of these Senators, and of the many others who sympathize with them, must necessarily be great.

The reaction of Mr. Bryan to the President's telegram was natural and is already known. Publicly he said that the President "cannot be expected to know actual conditions" because he "is broken down in health, surrounded by physicians, unable to confer with Senators and Congressmen and denied the information essential to sound judgement and safe leadership." Privately, Mr. Bryan has since been stimulated to increased activity with plans for making and getting adopted a league plank hostile to the President's position.

RANDOM NOTES

SOCIAL : PERSONAL MENTION : CLUBS

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Jack Stone was a charming hostess to the Beginners' Class of the Sunnyside School, treating the children to delicious icecream cones in honor of her little son William.

Throughout the school year the mothers of the beginners have taken turns in giving parties to the school. Not a week has gone by that the children have not been generously remembered by one or more Sunnyside mothers.

Special days and important happenings have all been occasions for celebration.

At one time little Russell McLean son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard McLean celebrated his recovery from a broken arm with a treat of ice cream and cake for the whole school.

In a commendable spirit of unselfishness a number of the children have given their birthday parties to the school, instead of at home, so that all of their schoolmates might be numbered among their guests.

Mrs. Ray Maddux served ice cream and cake to the school in honor of her little daughter Carrie Elizabeth's birthday and Mrs. Wheeler Bay celebrated little Jean Bay's birthday by treating the children to ice cream cones.

Little Fred King the cunning little son of Mr. and Mrs. Bennett King honored the third anniversary of his birth by bringing a delightful treat to the beginners with whom he is a great favorite.

The Friday afternoon was the "farewell party" celebrating the near approach of the close of school. Mrs. Howard McLean sent an immense box of fine candy and Mrs. Roby Blackburn delicious cake.

Preceding the treat the children enjoyed playground slides and a story hour, and finished the afternoon with a May pole dance and a number of singing games with victrola and organ accompaniments.

Mrs. Stone was assisted in serving the party by Miss Agnes Kerrigan and Miss Norma Dodd.

There were a number of visitors present.

The Charvis Club, M. Grove Davis, President, and Charles Fabb, Secretary-Treasurer, proved itself to be a most popular dance promoter, Friday night at the Class Day Dance.

Promptly at ten o'clock, after the conclusion of the exercises at the High School, Harvey's six piece Orchestra, featuring double saxophones, started their wonderful dance melodies at Memorial Hall.

The decorations were beautiful and elaborate, transforming the hall into a maze of color. The chandelier shed effulgence through a canopy of the class colors, yellow and blue, the club name blazoned in yellow letters upon the blue back ground of the canopy, from which extended streamers to the corners of the room and the balcony. At the end of the streamers were lighted Japanese lanterns and tiny lanterns formed a fringe for a unique center box effect below the canopy. A buffet lunch was served.

The dancers were chiefly the graduates and the younger set and the big hall pulsed with gay spirits.

Another dance to be given by the club has been announced for June the eighteenth.

Mesdames George Fabb, B. F. Davis, Walter Hamilton, H. R. Rodecker, R. R. Kibbler chaperoned.

With the close of school nearing Miss Edythe Blackman took the boys and girls of her Fourth grade of Central on a picnic, Friday afternoon.

The entire party motored out to the Roberts' grove on the Staunton pike, an ideal spot for a picnic and spent a very happy afternoon in games, with the picnic supper the main feature.

Over a hundred people, "tattered and torn" gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Bonham Friday night for the "Poverty Social," given by "The Willing Workers" for the benefit of the McNair Memorial Church.

It was a most successful affair, providing fun galore for everybody and netting a nice sum for the church. The costumes were very funny and fines dealt out to the "Man with the Dickey" and others "dressed up".

A pleasing program of readings, music and funny letters was given. Vocal solos were rendered by Miss Opal Sheridan, of Sabina, Miss Mary Roseboom, Everett Leasure, and piano numbers by Misses Thelma Davis, Thelma Craig, Beulah Elliott and Edith Barnes; readings by Mrs. Oliver Ford, Mrs. C. F. Bonham and Mrs. Chas. Ortman.

The entire committee worked with the President, Mrs. M. O. Ireland, in making the affair a success and Mr. and Mrs. Bonham assisted in every way.

Mrs. Minnie McClimans teacher of the First Grade at the Sunnyside School delighted the children with an informal little party, Friday afternoon, and served them with delicious home made cake and ice cream.

Afterwards, Mrs. McClimans was hostess to the teachers of the building at a farewell party as she has with drawn from the corps of teachers and will attend school the coming year.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES OFFER RARE TRIBUTE

The First Presbyterian Church was not large enough to hold the people who, shocked and saddened to an unusual degree, desired to say farewell to Miss Gladys Bucher in the services of Friday afternoon—auditorium, Sunday school room, galleries—were filled and still people kept coming.

This lovable young girl, simple and unassuming, had played her part in life well, and her bright personality, her unselfish desire to be helpful in whatever line she was needed, her musical talent, had won for her admiration and friends beyond numbering. There were few dry eyes in the great gathering as the casket was borne down the aisle to rest amid a profusion of lovely flowers, while the music of organ and violin, played by Mrs. B. F. Davis and Miss Mazie Kessler, filled the air with plaintive melody.

It was a beautiful young girl who lay as if asleep against the soft cushions of her couch, the only flowers upon her casket the white lilies of her family's remembrance, and a large bunch of superb American beauty roses, the gift of her fiancé, Mr. Ed Merrill, of Columbus. There was added pathos in the realization that their wedding was to have been early in the summer.

The patriotic organization, Daughters of America, attended in a body, and also the M. H. G. Class of the Sunday school.

Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage, assisted by Rev. J. L. McWilliams, of Wilmington, and Rev. C. R. Ferguson, of the First Baptist Church, conducted services of much tenderness and beauty.

The memoir was a rare tribute written by Hon. C. A. Reid.

Rev. Gage followed with a heartsome talk, his introductory thought that if the lips of the departed could speak they would utter a message bidding those remaining realize the worth of the life well spent in the faithful discharge of duties; death to her brought not loss, but eternal reward. An especially pretty thought was that while this beloved girl was lost from a world now bursting with the bloom of early summer, yet this earth is sometimes covered with drifting snow and she is now in the eternal summerland, where flowers never wither and birds never cease singing. The minister closed his talk by reading "Crossing the Bar."

The Daughters of America conducted their beautiful patriotic services, in charge of Councillor Miss Bertha Switzer; Junior Past Councillor, Mrs. Nettie Sowders; Vice Councillor, Mrs. Ruth Arehart and placed the flag upon the casket.

An unusually long procession followed the funeral car to the cemetery and the services at the grave, in the enveloping brightness of spring, left their message of hope.

Rev. Gage read the scriptures and Rev. McWilliams conducted the committal service, closing with a beautiful poem. Rev. Ferguson pronounced the benediction.

The pall bearers were Mesdames Frank Jackson, George Clark, Misses Esther Leland, Hazel Moore, Ida Harvey, Edna Hann, all of the M. H. G. class, which class arranged the flowers in the church and at the grave.

Besides a wreath of flowers from relatives and friends, there were special pieces from the North street neighbors, D. of A. tots of the Sunday school class of Mrs. Clark and Miss Bucher; the Sunday School, Dr. Hazard and Cherry Hill Hospital, J. O. U. A. M., Gregg street neighbors, Washington Gas & Electric Company, the Maccabees and four baskets and sprays from Miss Bucher's music pupils.

There were a large number attending the services from the Mt. Sterling neighborhood in which Miss Bucher had taught music.

Among relatives from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. George Butcher, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mayes, Mrs. Katherine Adkins and son Charles, Miss Nora Lilly, Messrs. Edward Moony, George Morris and Harry Call, Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Call, sons Charles and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. William Wardell, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Call, of Five Points; Mr. J. F. Fulton and family, Mr. Frank Sollars of Mt. Sterling; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Toops, Rev. and Mrs. J. L. McWilliams, daughter Miss Joyce, of Wilmington; Mrs. H. V. Hankins and daughter of Milledgeville; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell and two sons, Miss Opal DeWitt, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Eng, Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Toops, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Butcher and son Walter Lewis, of Cooks.

CARD OF THANKS
With deepest gratitude we wish to express our appreciation of the great kindness and sympathy shown in the illness and death of our daughter and fiancé especially thanking the officiating ministers and musicians, Dr. Hazard, Undertaker Klever and the donors of the beautiful flowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Butcher
Mr. Ed Merrell.

Strawberries and Cream

A Great Combination

If there's anything in the whole world better at this season of the year than big, red, full ripe, luscious strawberries and rich Yellow Cream, it's more strawberries and cream.

Nature has been kind this season and sent a crop of this delicious fruit with their usual appeal to the normal palate.

Whether served alone or made into a crisp Shortcake, strawberries invariably call for cream, and that is where we play an important part. You'll want Cream and Strawberries for Decoration Day, so give your cream order early that we may give you the kind of service we like to give.

If you wish whipping cream specify such in your order and it will whip.

What Good is a Dollar?

It's largely up to you. It depends on how you spend it—on the value TO YOU of what you get for it—on your ability to find where that value is to be had.

Of course, it's all right to shop around a bit if you like, but why not let the other fellow make it easier for you by doing a little shopping after your dollar — by showing you what you want and where you can get most of it for your money?

It's a great idea, once you get the hang of it, and here's how!

Right in this paper you'll find dozens of advertisements offering you merchandise. Some things you'll need today; some tomorrow; some next week or next year—but the point is that these merchants are coming to you, looking for your dollar and offering the best they have to get it.

You'll find that by reading the advertisements consistently today and every day, you can increase the value—to yourself—of every dollar you have to spend. The things you see advertised are almost invariably as represented. The advertisers' statements are usually safer to trust than your own judgment. Advertised misrepresentation is business suicide.

Read the advertisements and increase the value of your Dollar!

SIX MONTHS I COULD NOT WORK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Me Strong and Able to Work—I Recommend It To All My Friends.

Bayonne, N. J.—"I had pains in back and legs so that I could not stand caused by female trouble. I felt so tired all the time, had bad headaches, and for six months I could not work. I was treated by a physician and took other remedies but got no relief. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has helped me very much. I am well and strong and now able to do my work. I cannot thank you enough and I recommend your medicine to my friends who are sick."—Mrs. SUSIE SACATANSKY, 25 East 17th St., Bayonne, N. J.

It must be admitted by every fair-minded, intelligent person, that a medicine could not live and grow in popularity for over forty years, and today hold a record for such wonderful success as does Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, without possessing great virtue and actual worth. Such medicine must be looked upon and termed both standard and dependable by every thinking person.

HIS VICTORY TURNED THE TIDE OF INTERNATIONAL AUTO RACING

Hoosier speedway in 1913.

His courage and daring more than had its reward, however, when he romped home an easy first in the contest, and his success served to focus on Indianapolis the attention of the entire European racing world.

Goux's victory was one of the decisive events of automobile racing, serving to shape the history of the sport even as Crecy and Agincourt determined the future of world civilization.

Had he lost the memorable conflict of 1913, his defeat would have been attributed abroad to the natural

Jules Goux, captain of the French Peugeot team in the eighth international 500-mile sweepstakes on the Indianapolis motor speedway, Monday, May 31, is esteemed by American racing fans as no other European driver.

Goux was the first overseas contender ever to brave the hazards of competition so far from his native heath at Indianapolis, venturing into a new and hostile field on the occasion of his initial appearance on the handicaps that he had to overcome, such as strange environment and remoteness from his base of supplies, and consequently have served as an effective check to further European competition.

His victory, on the other hand, stimulated foreign interest in the Indianapolis contest to the highest enthusiasm, with the result that the year following a small regiment of Europeans came in quest of American gold and glory, and they have continued coming, save for the interruption of the war, ever since.

LIBRARY DEVELOPMENT FACTOR IN EDUCATION

"Good Books Make Good Citizens" this is the firm conviction of the American librarians, who are back of the "Books for Everybody Movement," a movement one of education and not an intensive financial drive. The funds necessary to carry out the Enlarged Program will be secured largely by librarians, library trustees and friends of librarians.

Any who are interested in the success of this movement and willing to contribute will kindly send donations to the city Librarian, Miss Elizabeth Johnson.

The American Library Association is a professional organization made up of four thousand active librarians in the United States. The Association was established forty-four years ago.

The organization was successful in its war work, distributing more than 7,000,000 books to soldiers, sailors and marines and cultivating the habit of reading and study among millions of young Americans who saw service.

In the era of intense economic activity following the war, the public library has been called upon to play a part undreamed of when the A. L. A. was holding its first meeting nearly half a century ago.

A great deal has been accomplished in the field of library development and the promotion of education in the last half century, but there is much yet to be done. The Association looks with pride upon its accomplishments in the past, but it realizes that, compared to the task that awaits it, the service performed during the war and before, great as it was, sinks into insignificance.

Self-education is the present need and the libraries of the country have come forward to meet this need.

There are approximately 15,000,000 new Americans in the United States and more than 6,000,000 of this number cannot read or speak the language of America. Millions of American-born do not come in contact with good books.

A very small proportion of the people who live in the open country, in villages and small towns have access to any adequate collection of books.

The existence of this condition is almost incomprehensible to the average American Book wagon should be operated in farming districts and branch libraries should be established in villages and towns.

Library Service to the Merchant Marine, for the blind, are also considered in this "Books for Everybody Movement," the success of which is so important as a work of education.

This definite plan will serve as a clearing house for information and there are great possibilities in its service.

Memorial Day in France

There are many American graves in France; the French people know where they are, and why they are there. As we are remembering here the heroic sacrifices made in the past for the security of our republic, "Over There" they are paying the tribute of love and reverence to their own and ours.

The spirit of Memorial Day ought, in the end, to bind the world together.

ANNUAL BAD EGG LOSS IS $2,000,000

Conservative estimates place the annual loss from bad eggs in Ohio at over two million dollars. This loss can be largely eliminated, say poultry specialists, by producing infertile eggs. It is suggested that roosters too valuable to be disposed of, following the breeding season, should be penned up.

FORAGE REDUCES COST OF PORK

Growing and fattening hogs in the summer timewhile the use of some pasture crops is usually an uneconomical practice. With the present extremely high prices of grain feeds, it is profitable to substitute, as far as possible, forage crops for grain feeds. A saving of 15 to 25 percent of the total amount of grain and supplements may be expected through the use of forage. Pasture crops when combined with grain feeds will produce the cheapest ration for both breeding and fattening hogs, and the cost of grains will range from one-sixth to one-fourth cheaper than when grain is fed in a dry lot.

It may be possible in some cases with an abundance of good forage, to obtain fairly satisfactory gains for a time on such forage alone, but the greatest returns have been obtained when grain was fed in addition to the forage at the rate of 2 to 3 percent of the weight of the hogs per day.

In order to supply plenty of pasture all through the season, it will be best to supply several kinds of forage crops if possible, as no single pasture crop fulfills the forage requirements for an entire season. Change of pasture is good for the hogs and the pasture as well, for it gives the pasture a rest and adds variety to the ration for the hogs, both of which are good practices.

PERSIA LOSING POLYGAMY CUSTOM

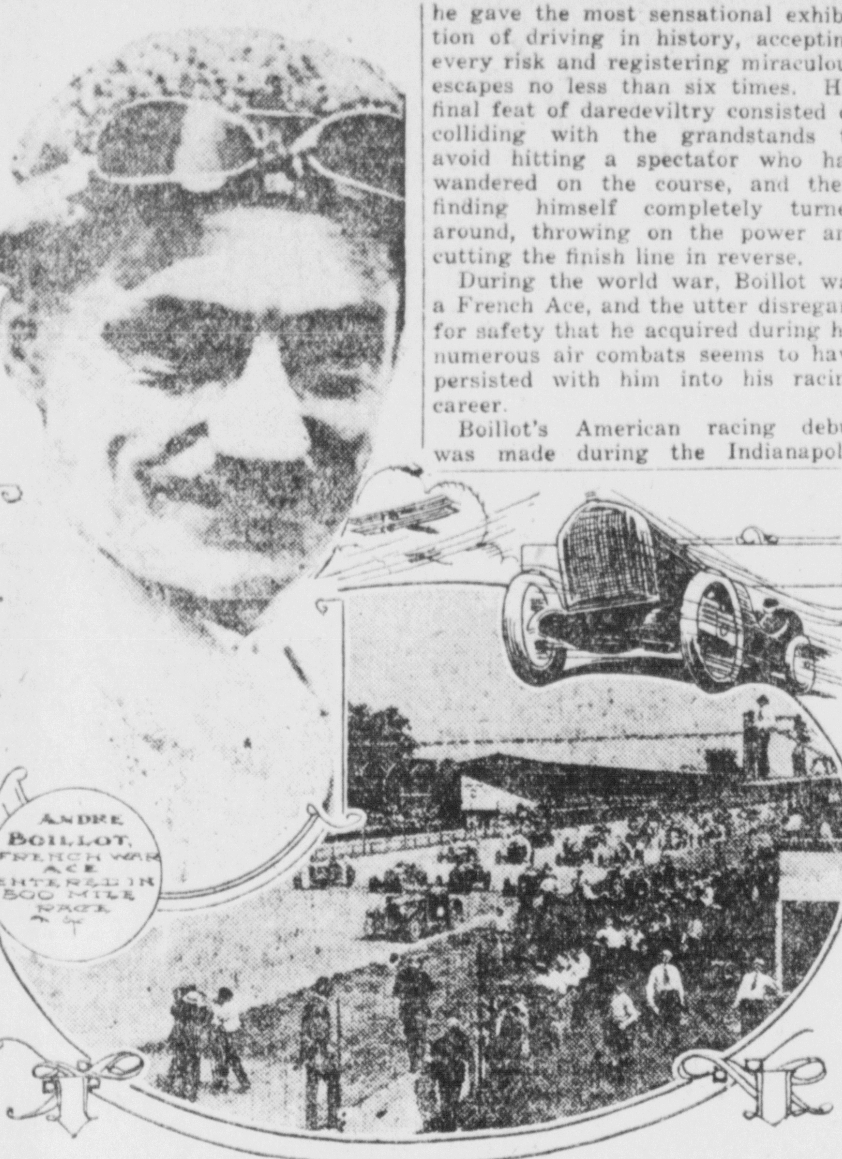

(By Associated Press)
Teheran—(By Mail)—Polygamy is dying out in Persia—another result of greatly advanced living costs, together with jealousy, which is becoming more marked a characteristic of Persian wives with the premenation of Western ideas and standards in the East.

With this change has come another—the custom of having family names. A year ago the Persian government made it compulsory for people to adopt a surname. Before that only peasants had any common name in the family, the upper classes possessing only one. A man, for instance, might be called Ghafar simply, and his son Hassan with nothing to show their relationship.

MOST RECKLESS OF EUROPEAN DRIVERS IN BIG INDIANAPOLIS 500-MILE RACE

Andre Boillot, second star member of the Peugeot triumvirate that will endeavor to hoist the tricolor above the flags of competing nations during the eighth international 500-mile sweepstakes on the Indianapolis speedway, Monday, May 31st, is rated as Europe's most reckless pilot, looming up as a worthy successor to the laurels that crowned the brow of his famous brother, Georges, conceded to be the greatest driver who ever held a steering wheel.

In the last Targa Florio of Sicily, were uncontested. Wives were granted decrees in 6,681 cases and husbands in 2,696 cases.

Absence and neglect were the leading causes of divorce, 3,701 wives being given divorces on this ground and 1,975 men. There were fewer divorces on account of drunkenness than in former years. Three hundred and forty-four husbands were granted decrees because of adultery and 231 wives were divorced on this charge.

Since the constitution of 1851 jurisdiction in divorce cases has been limited by statute to the common pleas courts. The decision of the supreme court holding that divorce cases are subject to review is based upon the constitutional amendment of 1912 which knocked out the statute limiting jurisdiction to the lower court.

There were 8,777 divorces in Ohio last year as against 8,709 the previous year. The great majority of the cases
